

RAUSP

MANAGEMENT JOURNAL

RAUSP Management Journal

Special Issue Call for Papers: Research Methods in Management: Advances and Applications

Guest editors:

Marlei Pozzebon (HEC Montréal, Montréal, Québec, Canada; Fundação Getulio Vargas - Escola de Administração do Estado de São Paulo, Brazil)

Diógenes de Souza Bido (Mackenzie Presbyterian University - Brazil)

Special Issue Aims and Scope

This Special Issue aims to advance knowledge and promote good qualitative and quantitative research methodologies and practices in the field of management

We seek papers that address mainly new or recent non-mainstream methodological approaches in the field of management research, and their potential contribution to both scholars and students. These papers should focus on the creative description of methodologies or on the process of doing research rather than on its outcomes (if any).

We also invite critical reflections about important methodological issues, including ethical and social impact, different types of researchers' engagement with empirical reality and on the relationships between the individuals leading the research and its participants. Preferably, this Special Issue will gather contributions from leading scholars in both qualitative and quantitative research.

Submission Procedure

Papers should be submitted online via the RAUSP Management Journal submission system at <https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/rausp>. The authors should follow the Emerald guidelines for authors available at <http://www.emeraldgroupublishing.com/services/publishing/rausp/authors.htm>

Important:

- Articles should be written only in the English language. Each submitted manuscript should be up to 7,000 words in length, including all references, tables and figures.
- Please identify the manuscript as “Special Issue on Research Methods in Management: advances and applications” and submit the paper under the special issue of the same name during the submission process.

Manuscripts are expected to be submitted by May 10th, 2019. Authors are, however, encouraged to submit their papers early. All submissions will be subject to double blind peer review by referees.

Authors will be notified by May 30th, 2019 if their contribution has been accepted, followed by a Revise and Resubmit (R&R) process. The final version of the manuscript is to be submitted by 30th July, 2019. The publication of this Special Issue is scheduled for November, 2019 (RAUSP Management Journal 54, v4) or earlier if possible.

Benefits of Submitting to RAUSP Management Journal

- RAUSP is indexed in Scopus, SciELO and the Directory of Open Access Journals
- Authors published in the journal receive wide visibility: All articles will be published and made freely available using the Open Access CC-BY 4.0 Creative Commons Attribution license.
- There is no submission nor publication charge
- Fast publication: Once accepted, individual articles are typeset, proofed and published online as the Version of Record within an average of 32 days (subject to permissions and copyright)
- Enhanced discoverability: Articles published in the Journal are given global visibility and accessibility via <http://www.emeraldinsight.com>, an industry leading research platform with enhanced search and discoverability capabilities

Contacts

For additional information, please contact the RAUSP Management Journal editors:

Maria Sylvia Macchione Saes (ssaes@usp.br)

Flavio Hourneaux Junior (flaviohjr@usp.br)